POLO GROUNDS, SEPT. 7.—A big and festive air pervaded everything about the grounds to-day.

Except on the supposition that to-day the Giants were regarded by the talent as sure winners, the chipper feelings on the part of the assemblage cannot be explained.

The crowd, though gay, was not a large one. The theatres are in full blast again, and the managers serve not only to tempt many spectators from the games, but keep the Thespian crowd of cranks busy at work.

The weather was of a kind not enjoyed of late. The sun was in force, but a brisk breeze from the north blew directly into the grand stand and sweeping the hot humidity of the past few days away to some downtown ward, carried the feathers in maidens' hair to hump themselves, and made the chipper birds on the telegraph wires flit their tails and swell their chests with conscious delight.

Indeed, even before the Giants had come out from their shell-like clubhouse everything seemed of a Hoosier defeat, and when they did show themselves not only to proceed with a preliminary practice that suggested ill for the Indians' chances to-day.

Ewing's hand is still very much swollen and indisposed for ball playing, so Brown was booked to receive O'Day's salary earnings.

Linsie, who twirled so effectively on Thursday, was chosen to hold the Hoosier end up.

President Bruce, with his hat even nearer than usual to his ears, watched the progress of the game from the ladies' gallery.

Nearly five thousand people were within the confines of the grounds when play was called.

The batting order:

NEW YORK: INDIANAPOLIS:

Gore, c. f. Seery, l. f.

Tierman, r. f. Andrews, c. f.

Brown, c. f. Glasscock, s. f.

Connor, 1st b. Hines, 1st b.

Ward, s. f. Hines, 1st b.

Richardson, 2d b. Buckley, c. f.

Whitney, l. f. Seery, l. f.

O'Day, p. Hines, 1st b.

Chase, c. f. Seery, l. f.

Empire—Mr. Knight.

First Inning.—The Giants took first chance with the bat, and Gore started the game and the cheering by smashing a safe hit to center.

Tierman kept both things on the move by driving a second hit in the same direction.

Brown was deserved applause by cleverly sacrificing a grounder to Denny, which advanced both runners a base.

Connor hit the ball very hard, but the line fly which resulted was superbly caught by McGeehy.

The out permitted Gore to score.

Ward did the proper thing, his clean hit to center bringing Tierman home without a struggle.

Richardson stopped a terrific grounder to Denny, but the latter decided to play third to let balls go by him, and Ward was forced at second.

Two runs.

Seery's pop fly was held by Connor. Andrews made three ineffectual staves at the ball, and then with much dignity sat down. Glasscock was his quietest at the hands of Richardson and Connor. No runs.

Second Inning.—Four balls gave O'Rourke first base, and Whitney bunted to the front with a corking single, which shot past Glasscock.

O'Rourke went to third on the hit, and the throw in being slowly handled by Rusie, Whitney made a clean steal of second.

Four balls to O'Day filled the bases and brought Gore to bat.

Gore, too, received four balls and O'Rourke was forced to score. Tierman popped up a fly to left which Seery muffed. He recovered the ball in time to cause O'Day's out at third, but Whitney had scored on the error.

Then Gore made a dashing steal of third, and Tierman pursued an unobstructed way to second.

Ward home. Whitney slashed his second single to left and O'Rourke scored.

Bassett let O'Day's grounder get away from him and Whitney swung himself around to third, while O'Day, by a close call, got to second. Gore's grounder to Glasscock caused Whitney's out at the plate.

Gore then started for second, and on Sommer's high overthrow of second, both men scored.

Sommer's substitution for Buckley was due to the latter having a finger knocked out.

Tierman hit up a very high fly, which Denny obligingly muffed, and Mike reached second. Brown was hit by a pitched ball and took first, but Connor's fly was caught by Bassett. Four runs.

The pitched ball which hit Brown knocked the big Californian out of the game, and Murphy was taken from his comfortable seat on the bench and put behind the bat.

It was to be his first experience with O'Day.

Bassett led off with a rattling two-bagger, and scored when O'Rourke's exuberant failure to catch Rusie's line fly gave the latter second.

Sir James took to Seery's high fly. Andrews knocked a simple little grounder, which Connor seemed to stop, and Rusie scored on the hit.

Glasscock's foul fly was put to sleep by Whitney, and Denny closed the inning by going out on a fly to O'Rourke. Two runs.

Fourth Inning.—Four balls gave Ward first, but he was declared out in an attempt to reach second on a thrown ball which went by Hines. Richardson fouled to Sommer. O'Rourke fled to Seery. No runs.

Ward and Connor disposed of Hines. Sommer boomed a fly which fell to O'Rourke. Connor stopped McGeehy's grounder and won the race for first. No runs.

Fifth Inning.—By a great stop Glasscock spoiled a base hit for Whitney. O'Day and Gore were both given bases on balls.

Tierman's grounder to Denny forced O'Day at third, and Tierman was himself forced at second by Murphy's grounder, which was handled by Glasscock. No runs.

Sixth Inning.—Rusie was really captured by Tierman. Rusie, however, biffed a single to center.

Seery was accorded his base on balls, and Andrews' single filled the bases.

Glasscock hit a sharp grounder to Ward, who yielded to Richardson, forcing Andrews, and Denny clapped the sphere to Connor in time for a double. No runs.

Seventh Inning.—The Giants' sixth Connor reached first on balls, and followed it with a clean steal of second.

Ward's out from Bassett to Hines advanced Roger to third, but he was put out at the plate trying to score on Richardson's bounder to Rusie.

Before he was run out Denny had reached second. O'Rourke came to the rescue with a single to center and Richardson scored.

O'Rourke stole second. Whitney fled to Bassett. One run.

Denny sent a bounder to Ward and was retired on Connor's fine one-hand stop of a very high throw.

Andrews made a desperate attempt to capture Ward's fly, and his failure to make a phenomenal catch brought in two runs.

Richardson struck out. Two runs.

McGeehy lined the ball to left for a base. A wild pitch advanced him to second.

Bassett fled out to Gore.

Eighth Inning.—O'Rourke's head for two bases and McGeehy scored.

Seery's single to center brought Rusie home. He took second on the throw-in.

Andrews hit safely to left.

Glasscock fled out to Gore.

The quick throw in held Seery on third. Denny fled out to Richardson. Two runs.

Gale called on account of darkness.

WASHINGTON PARK, BROOKLYN, SEPT. 7.—Aside from Decoration Day the largest crowd that has visited Washington Park this season to-day filled the grand stand and bleaching boxes until there was not even standing room, and then lined the back until the late comers had to do the acrobatic act and climb the fence like a lot of chickens.

Over 15,000 people passed through the turnstiles before 4 o'clock, and they kept coming long after Uncle Goldsmith had called play.

The Browns also effected their victory in their defeat at Columbus and Baltimore, and were as full of "ginger" as if they were still in the last inning of twenty points behind President Byrne's pets.

The present series is the last between the champions and the probable coming champion, and virtually decides where the flag will fly next year.

There was blood in the eyes of both nines, and to-day's battle was set down to be a desperate one for Comiskey's side.

The following was the batting order:
